Attendance Requirements

WBUonline (Virtual Campus)

Students are expected to participate in all required instructional activities in their courses. Online courses are no different in this regard; however, participation must be defined in a different manner. Student "attendance" in an online course is defined as active participation in the course as described in the course syllabus. Instructors in online courses are responsible for providing students with clear instructions for how they are required to participate in the course. Additionally, instructors are responsible for incorporating specific instructional activities within their course and will, at a minimum, have weekly mechanisms for documenting student participation. These mechanisms may include, but are not limited to, participating in a weekly discussion board, submitting/completing assignments in Blackboard, or communicating with the instructor. Students aware of necessary absences must inform the professor with as much advance notice as possible in order to make appropriate arrangements. Any student absent 25 percent or more of the online course, i.e., non-participatory during 2 or more weeks of an 8-week session, may receive an F for that course. Instructors may also file a Report of Unsatisfactory Progress for students with excessive non-participation. Any student who has not actively participated in an online class prior to the census date for any given session is considered a "no-show" and will be administratively withdrawn from the class without record. To be counted as actively participating, it is not sufficient to log in and view the course. The student must be submitting work as described in the course syllabus. Additional attendance and participation policies for each course, as defined by the instructor in the course syllabus, are considered a part of the university's attendance policy.

PLEASE PAY SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THIS PART!!! Any student who has not actively participated in an online class prior to the Census Date for any given session is considered a “no-show” and will be administratively withdrawn from the class without record. To be counted as actively participating, it is not sufficient to log in and view the course or complete other Assignments. The student *MUST complete the “Required First Assignment” located at the top of the Course Content page per WBU rules to be counted as actively attending.

The Census Date is vital to you so be sure that you have not only logged-in but have actively participated in the Required First Assignment to avoid being Administratively DROPPED from the course. Attendance in Online classes REQUIRES the completion of Required First Assignment NO Later than 11 August 2023 Before 2359/11:59 p.m. REMEMBER---Simply logging into Blackboard, WBUonline, the Course Webpage or any other contact such as an E-Mail to your Professor is NOT accepted by either the WBU Administration nor the State of Texas as “attendance,” and will not count as “participation.” You Have Been Warned!!

University Policies

Statement on Plagiarism and Academic Dishonesty: Wayland Baptist University observes a zero tolerance policy regarding academic dishonesty. Per university policy as described in the academic catalog, all cases of academic dishonesty will be reported and second offenses will result in suspension from the university.

Disability Statement: In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), it is the policy of Wayland Baptist University that no otherwise qualified person with a disability be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subject to discrimination under any educational program or activity in the university. The Director of Counseling, Career and Disability Services serves as the coordinator of students with disability and should be contacted concerning accommodation request at (806) 291-3765. Documentation of a disability must accompany any request for accommodations.

Accessibility issues with content in WBUonline courses or in Blackboard should be addressed to the WBU accessibility coordinator, Dr. Trish Ritschel-Trifilo, trifilot@wbu.edu or call (806) 291-3745.

Student Grade Appeals: Students shall have protection through orderly procedures against prejudices or capricious academic evaluation. A student who believes that he or she has not been held to realistic academic standards, just evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course by using the student grade appeal process described in the Academic Catalog. Appeals may not be made for advanced placement examinations or course bypass examinations. Appeals are limited to the final course grade, which may be upheld, raised, or lowered at any stage of the appeal process. Any recommendation to lower a course grade must be submitted through the Vice President of Academic Affairs to the Faculty Assembly Grade Appeals Committee for review and approval. The Faculty Assembly Grade Appeals Committee may instruct that the course grade be upheld, raised, or lowered to a more proper evaluation.

Course Requirements and Grading Criteria

WARNING: This class is conducted online in the NEW fast-paced 8-week format. Thus, students must plan accordingly for Assignments to come regularly and quickly with heavier weekly reading loads. I hate to say this, but at times, it may seem like trying to drink water from a firehose or a speed dating event. For more information, see WBU 8-Week FAQs. All dates/times refer to the appropriate seasonal Central Time (CT) Zone.

The Course Assignments are composed of four (4) components:

1. Graded Quizzes:

Chapter Quizzes reveal the student's factual knowledge from the assigned reading. Each chapter quiz will be composed of ten (10) questions in various formats including (but are not limited to) multiple choice, fill-in-the-blank, true/false, maps, and more. For preparation and study, practice tests are available on the "Content" page. No proctor is required -- all exams are completed online on the "Content" page under the appropriate week on the Course Website in Blackboard. Students will take twenty (20) Chapter Quizzes within the eight (8) week Term with the ability to drop seven (7) of the 20 Chapter Graded Quiz scores. Normally, students may be completing three-Chapter Quizzes per week and the Graded Quizzes are open Friday-to-Monday. Graded Chapter Quizzes begin at 12:00 a.m. CT on Fridays and close at 11:59 p.m. CT (just before Midnight) on Mondays per the Course Schedule (see below) with all times referring to the appropriate seasonal Central Time (CT) Zone/WBU Plainview Campus Time. This gives the student 96 hours over a four (4) day window to complete each quiz after it is posted. Graded Quizzes are timed with twenty (20) minutes to take and complete the quiz with ONE attempt at the quiz ONLY. Once you open the Exam, you must complete it within the time limit as the Blackboard Program allows for only ONE (1) Test attempt and all are timed. There are NO make-ups. Each Quiz is worth 5% each and the student will be able to drop seven (the 7 lowest scores) of the 20-Chapter Quizzes. The top thirteen (13) Quizzes comprise a total of 65% of your Class Average but remember there are other course requirements. (Each Quiz is worth 5% or a total of 65% of the Final Course Grade.)

2. Student Interaction/Participation:

The second component of a student's course average are Discussions listed on the Course Schedule twice during the 8-week Term. Each assignment covers several chapters and Questions options found on each Discussion Forum. These are designed to give students a better understanding of historical events in exchanges with their classmates in a student-driven interactive environment. Each Answer must be 300-350 minimum word written analysis including in-text citations and a Bibliography/Works Cited/Reference for all material used. Students can use any formal standard Citation Style (Turabian, MLA, APA, etc.) as long they correctly cite their material. Assistance can be found on the Discussion Board link or hands-on help through contacting the WBU Writing Center. The Discussion Questions will be posted on the Discussion Board Link and will require students to post their own Answer to one of the Professor's questions by SATURDAY evening no later than 2359 CT (11:59 pm).

Next, each student must submit One (1) Commentary/Reply of a minimum of 100-words regarding a fellow classmates' answer which is due no later than MONDAY by 2359 CT (11:59 pm). These "Commentaries" can be in the form of agreements in which you add more information supporting the original author's assertion or you may choose to disagree (with civility of course) with something a colleague posted---but it must be more than just an "I agree" sentence. The objective is for students to add substantially to the discussion of a topic; thus your commentaries must be a minimum of 100-words.

The Discussion Forums will open starting on Tuesdays at 08:00 CT (8 am) and remain open for posting of a student's Main Post/Answer to the Professor's question by SATURDAY as scheduled at 2359 CT (11:59 pm). The student's Commentary about one of their colleagues Answers can begin posting on Fridays and must be submitted no later than MONDAY at 2359 CT (11:59 pm) with all times referring to the appropriate seasonal Central Time (CT) Zone. So---Do Not Procrastinate. Get your Answers posted early and then move on to read and select a classmate's Answer post to assess and create your Commentary to submit at any time between Friday and when the Discussion closes on the Monday night. CAUTION---you may NOT submit your Commentary until you have posted your own Answer to the Professor's question.

NOTE: Students will not be able to view or respond to any of your classmates' messages until AFTER you have posted your initial Answer Response by creating a new thread. Students who submit an Empty post or Commentary/Reply FIRST (rather than an Answer post) to gain access to the Discussion Forum and their classmates' posts – by accident or intent – will lose 20 points for the first infraction. Additional violations of this rule will result in a zero (0) for that Discussion Forum.

To reiterate, there are 2-Parts to this assignment. The first is your own Main Post/Answer to the material posted by the Professor and selected by you and One (1) Commentary that you post regarding what One (1) of your classmates submitted. So, to be clear, there are two (2) separate due dates so Do Not Panic and remember that you have almost one full week to complete both (2) parts of this Assignment. Be certain to submit your Main Post/Answer No Later Than SATURDAY thus allowing for the Commentaries from your classmates to begin posting no earlier than Friday and no later than MONDAY ensuring each student will have time for thoughtful responses to the Answers being submitted. Waiting until the last minute is unfair to those who need time to compose/create in-depth Commentaries, so treat your classmates as you wish to be treated.

The Three (3) Discussions during the Course are each worth 100-points and students will be able to drop ONE (1) of these, obviously it will be the lowest scores. However, be careful and do not skip/miss more than allowable one (1) drop or use it early in the Term only to find you need those points later – as there are NO makeups for this Assignment. You have been warned. The points will be awarded as follows: Eighty (80) points for a quality Main Post/Answer to the Question/Assignment itself; and then Twenty (20) points for your one Comment/Reply to a classmate's posts. Each Discussion Assignment is worth 13% of your class average---and the lowest one (1) score of the Three (3) Discussion Assignments will be automatically dropped. Your highest two (2) Discussion Assignments will thus total 26% toward your Course Grade.

PENALTIES: Loss of points can occur (but are not limited to) postings submitted after the due date, postings that do not meet the stated requirements, minimum word length, numbers of posts, no or improper citations, or postings that use non-scholarly sources such as Wikipedia, History.com, and other popular History and/or Study Websites.

3. Pre- and Post-Tests

The WBU History Department now requires that all students complete both a Pre-Test and Post-Test to assess their knowledge of history. The dates for these are found on the Course Schedule page and the actual Quizzes are found on the “Content” link under the appropriate week. Remember, students MUST complete BOTH to earn the 100 points or 6% of the Final Course Grade for this Assignment. Completing only ONE will earn zero points.

The Pre- and Post-Test are participation ONLY credit – meaning your actual score on the Quiz is not important – it is your participation in BOTH the Pre and Post Tests that earn the students the 100 points and 8% of the Final Course Grade. Students should attempt to do their best on the tests to provide the clearest results to the History Department, which is engaged in the larger effort to improve the quality of social studies education in America. Most educational reform efforts over the past several decades have focused upon STEM areas, but this has led to a significant decrease in vital knowledge about social studies in a rapidly changing world. This is particularly important for the post-9/11 generation and a baseline understanding of what a bright College Freshman knows or learns over a term is essential for improvements to be made.

4. Start HERE! -- Introduction Assignments (3-Parts)

First, complete the “REQUIRED FIRST ASSIGNMENT” two-question Quiz by the date listed on the Course Schedule to avoid being Administratively DROPPED from the course. This is KEY to demonstrating you are actively participating in the class! The Quiz is worth 100 points or 1% of the Final Course Grade.

The Second part is the completion of a Course Syllabus Quiz by the date listed on the Course Schedule. The Syllabus Quiz is worth 100 points or 1% of the Final Course Grade.

The Third Assignment is an Introduction Post (separate from the Three (3) Discussion Forums listed directly above). Students are required to post a brief summary of a minimum of 150 words to earn credit by answering a few Questions about their goals, etc. by the date listed on the Course Schedule. NO Replies to fellow students are necessary. The Introduction Forum is worth 100 points or 1% of the Final Course Grade.

Method of determining course grade:

Course grade will be determined by the student's total accumulated average. All Quizzes are worth 5% each for a total of 65% of your course grade. There are 20 Quizzes, but only 13 will be used to determine the Quiz average after the Seven (7) drop Quiz scores. All Discussions are worth 13%. There are 3 Discussion Forums and students may drop ONE (1) with only Two (2) used to determine the Discussions average for a total of 26% of your course grade. Then there are the Assignment REQUIRED by the History Department – the Pre- and Post-Tests of which BOTH MUST be completed to earn the 6% of the course grade. The remaining 3% of your average comes from the Introduction Assignments

Graded Quizzes (13 at 5% each)	65%
Discussions (2 at 13%)	26%
Pre- and Post-Tests	6%
Introduction Assignments	3%

Make-up, Resets, Early/Late, Extra Credit Policy:

There is NO extra credit offered--so Please Do Not Ask. Since you are given the chance to drop several Assignments (see above), then I DO NOT allow any Make-up, Resets, Early/Late Assignments -- for any reason so do not ask. I have made every effort to help busy students succeed in this course, including allowing numerous drops for the Quizzes instead of dreaded Make-Ups which are just more work for an already stressed individual who is behind in a class. But---there is an assignment that I have no control over and thus may not offer the drop option -- the Pre-Post Knowledge Tests. These must be completed according to WBU rules. My 15-years of teaching at the University level has demonstrated that Make-Up work is really just piling more work onto an already swamped student, while the Drop score option relieves the pressure thus preventing a student from trying to do Make-Up assignment work while still keeping up with current tests or writing projects. Those due dates just keep coming—especially in the fast-paced 8-week Terms---so this has proven the most effective and popular method to help a student who missed something over which I have control and still allows them to submit other work on time. Remember, each student is being allowed to Drop Seven (7) Quizzes and One (1) Discussion score to assist those who must miss a Quiz or Discussion due to outside obligations or illness. This means a total of almost 1/3 of your Quiz grades are being dropped (no questions asked), and 1/3 of your Discussion Assignments as well. Now you see why there is no Extra Credit allowed since these drops apply to everyone, and even if you scored a perfect 100 on every Quiz or Discussion, you still will only get credit for 13 out of 20 Quizzes and 2 of 3 Discussion , all on your own terms. Cool? So, the rule is -- there are NO Make-up, Resets, Early/Late Quizzes or Discussions under any circumstances. A missed Graded Quiz or other Assignment will simply become a dropped score -- no exceptions -- and there is NO extra credit offered. Therefore, it is imperative that students keep track of due dates for Assignments.

A grace period is available – with appropriate late penalties applied -- on Discussions ONLY allowing students to post until the forum closes on Wednesdays at midnight, BUT once closed – the NO make-up rule applies.

Again, there is NO extra credit offered--so Please Do Not Ask. I have chosen to use the Drop score option where possible to assist those who must miss a Graded Quiz or Participation Ass because of outside obligations. So, no Extra Credit, Make-up, Resets, Early/Late Assignments allowed.

DUE DATES:

The weekly schedule for this class begins on Tuesdays and ends the following Monday. Due dates are the same each week:

All Main/Answer posts to Discussions must be completed by SATURDAY before 2359/11:59 p.m. CT.
All Discussion Replies and Quizzes must be completed by MONDAY before 2359/11:59 p.m. CT.

SO, THE DATES TO MARK IN YOUR CALENDARS ARE: SATURDAYS for Main Discussion Post that week and MONDAYS for Discussion Replies and Quizzes. All dates refer to the 2022 Calendar Year and all times refer to the appropriate seasonal Central Time Zone (CT)/WBU Plainview time.

The University has a standard grade scale:

A = 90-100, B = 80-89, C = 70-79, D = 60-69, F= below 60, W = Withdrawal, WP = withdrew passing, WF = withdrew failing, I = incomplete. An incomplete may be given within the last two weeks of a long term, within the last week of an 8-week session, or within the last two days of a microterm to a student who is passing, but has not completed a term paper, examination, or other required work for reasons beyond the student's control. A grade of "incomplete" is changed if the work required is completed prior to the last day of the next long 16-week term or 8-week session, unless the instructor designates an earlier date for completion. If the work is not completed by the appropriate date, the I is converted to an F.

Tentative Schedule

See Below.

Additional Information

Instructor's Policy on Attendance Requirements: Regular log-on is necessary for satisfactory achievement. Students must log into the course daily in this New fast-paced 8-week Term. This requirement is based upon the student's need to be informed on many issues that can arise, including changes in their course, any WBU announcement posted for the entire class, stay up-to-date on Due Dates for Assignments, and in order to stay in contact with their Professor, who may feel that important information is not being understood by the students enrolled in the course. Experience has demonstrated the important role played by the Professor's messages/postings in assisting students in successfully completing the class. So, remember to check the Course Homepage on a regular basis.

It is the responsibility of each student to keep track of their assignments. Students must have daily access to a computer and a reliable Internet connection to enroll in and succeed in this course. Technical problems with a Student's computer or Internet provider are not valid excuses to miss Assignments, Exams, or other Due Dates. Students should plan, in advance, to have access to a back-up computer, table, or smart phone with the Blackboard App. If a technical problem does occur, students should immediately send an e-mail to the WBUOnline Help Desk, where specialists in this technology can aid.

Online students play by a slightly different set of rules than classroom-based students. Because your Professors have no opportunity to meet you face-to-face or to conduct any real discussions with the class as a group, you pay a penalty when it comes to the final class averages. Unlike those who are in a regular course, day-in and day-out term and who can participate in the give-and-take of the academic process, there is no room for leeway when it comes to averaging a student's grade. The nearest thing to classroom interactions are found in the Course Participation Assignments. These are student-led learning tools, but they also give your Professor a glimpse into how well you are learning the material and substitute for the in-class debates found in the normal lecture format. So, the Trade-Off for flexibility and not driving to class each week is that you must participate in the Participation Assignments fully in order to give your Professor the best opportunity to assess your overall performance in the class. Failure to do so can make the difference between a student earning an "A" instead of the "B" or passing versus failure of the class.

Are you kidding? How to Handle the Reading and Quizzing Assignments in 8-week Terms: The new 8-week format adopted by WBU presents a few challenges and one is them is how to approach what I know seems like a daunting amount of reading. I built in a short window of relief from the reading/quizzes; however, I am limited in how many Assignments I could delete or modify and still meet the WBU History Department mandated requirements. Next, deleting or skipping chapters or sections in the textbook would be devastating for those of you who are taking this class to fulfill the requirements to teach History and thus, must pass the state exam. At first glance, I realize that the reading/workload may seem quite overwhelming so here are a few tips. First, understand that the key to reading any textbook at the college-level is to break-down the effort into steps. Never try to read textbooks as you would a novel. Instead, start by looking at the chapter title, which tells you in big terms what the author plans for you to learn. Next, skim through the chapter, looking at the paragraph headings which breakdown the subject even further taking special care to read the captions under any photos or maps--since they are often used by the publishers for test questions. Then read very carefully any Conclusion to a chapter that an author might include. Now begin reading for an hour or so, using highlighters, making notes in the margins or on a study sheet (or the provided PPTs), etc., ---so later, when you are in a hurry on the tests and need to skim through quickly, you have those shortcuts to help you. Don't forget to think "Big Picture" or "Context" placing each chapter into the overall framework you are building. After reading for a time, take a break and focus on some other issue until you feel energized again, diving back into the reading when you are ready. This should help you have a textbook that is ready to be used when the time comes to take the graded quiz. Now---one more thing. I strongly suggest making time to take the Practice Quizzes for each chapter at least once AFTER you have done the reading preparation above. This will allow you to see if you are marking/seeing the important material the author wanted you to learn. Give these tips a try and hopefully it will help make the term a successful one.

Next, since we cover three Chapter Quizzes per week, you may want to set up a reading schedule that allows you to "separate" the material to prevent information overload. For example, read chapter one on Thursday/Friday and take that quiz on Friday. Then read chapter two on Friday/Saturday and take the second quiz on Sunday morning. Finally, read the third chapter on Sunday/Monday and take the third quiz on Monday evening. If you cannot fit this into your busy schedule, then read all 3 Chapters during the week but spend an hour or so before taking each quiz reviewing the chapter and taking the practice quiz. This will help prevent "information overload!"

Instructor's Policy on Academic Dishonesty: Occasionally a few students will attempt to cheat or plagiarize. Students caught will receive a grade of F (0 points) for that assignment. Additionally, such students may receive a grade of F for the Course and may be suspended from the College (penalties which become a permanent part of a penalized student's record and cannot be eliminated by the repeat-option). If you are unsure about the definition of plagiarism, see the Plagiarism Handout on the Course Webpage or visit with your Professor.

Plagiarism includes, but is not limited to:

- downloading a free or purchased paper
- copying an article from the web or electronic database
- translating a foreign web article into English
- copy a paper from a local source
- cobbling -- cutting and pasting to create a paper from several sources (including web sites) even if properly cited
- excessive quoting (more than 20% even if properly cited)
- quoting less than all the words copied
- changing some words but copying whole phrases
- paraphrasing without attribution
- summarizing without attribution
- faking a citation
- recycling work from a previous or current course, whether your own work or another student's work.

A special note of a mistake mentioned above that is often made regarding plagiarism is what is known as "Cobbling." This is where someone strings together either the ideas of---or actual quotes from---another person's work. Even if you provide citations for all of it---the writer has still committed a form of plagiarism. It is very easy to do this---so be cautious. Your work needs to be original---not just a re-worded repetition of what is already out in the literature. Try reading your assignment out-loud prior to posting to avoid not only grammatical errors---but to find locate areas where you used the work of some other scholar without realizing that it crept into your writing.

Review the Plagiarism Handouts located on the “Course Info” link on the Course Webpage.

Choosing Solid Scholarly Historical Research: Students often search for additional information about historical events to supplement their understanding of the material in preparation for Discussions and even Graded Quizzes. To correctly interpret historical issues requires an accurate knowledge of the facts, so you can also consult secondary sources such as the work of other scholars and historians. Students are, however, STRONGLY cautioned to choose these extra sources, particularly Internet sites, with care. Websites, such as Wikipedia, Yahoo, Encyclopedias, History.com, Study.com, Biography.com, social media posts, etc., DO NOT necessarily contain reliable facts, documentation, or interpretations, and therefore, should not be used in a college course. One should NEVER cite these websites as official documentation even if you use them for a “Quickie” look at what they say about some topic. Websites like Wikipedia even post disclaimers, informing users that their material may or may not be valid Wikipedia Disclaimer \(http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Wikipedia:Disclaimers\). Instead, students should choose sources from the WBU Library, such as History Cooperative, JSTOR, or other refereed journals. For websites, learners should only select ones where an author is listed and can be identified as a scholar, historian, or other knowledgeable person. Such examples would include websites ending in .edu or .org. Use of Wikipedia, Yahoo, ANY Encyclopedias, Dictionaries, or general History websites (like History.com or the .net one) or any similar websites as sources for a college-level assignment will receive a minimum of a letter-grade deduction (generally this means a minimum of a 10-point loss). If you are in-doubt write to the Professor and ask for confirmation about the scholarly nature of the site/source in question.

Etiquette: The study of history is important and deserves respect from both the Professor and Students. Everyone has an obligation to cultivate an environment for learning that enhances the ability to pursue the shared interest in history. Respect for one another and for their ideas and values are essential for a strong community for the study of the Human Story that is history. Respectful students bring a strong work ethic to the course and are expected to log-on to the class regularly, be prepared for each class, and be attentive to discussions or other interactive participation. A shared respect for one another is essential to the academic integrity and a comfortable learning environment. Everyone must do their part to maintain a climate of openness and civility that encourages and honors intellectual achievement. If you need to review the standard for Net Etiquette rules, see the Netiquette Rules for more information

Teaching and Learning Strategy: The class is approached as an on-line instruction tool to learn about History. The course was designed to be completed during the NEW fast-paced 8-week Terms. Thus, students must schedule, on average, approximately 20-25 hours or more per week to accomplish the assignments required in a survey course of this complexity while reading material of 200-250 pages per week. It is recommended for the student to block out time in your day planner daily for completing reading, reviewing, and course work -- just as you would if you were on campus.

This course stresses interaction between the students emphasizing their ability to engage in what is known as “Active Learning” a form of the Socratic Method. The goal is to avoid the drudgery of traditional lecture formats and uses textbook chapters and supportive readings, mixed with primary documents usually found on Internet sites to support the historical material. Students should view and/or print off the Course Syllabus and Course Schedule regularly to keep track of posting dates for exams, and other graded assignments. In addition, regularly check the Course Homepage and Course Email for notices about any changes in the class or content materials. Participation in this course is crucial to success in any student driven learning process.

Since this course is offered as an online class, individualized learning is the key. Your ability to read the textbook and additional material and learn on your own to identify major theses and link material together into a complete picture of the subject/topic is crucial. The Professor is, however, available by via email to discuss in-depth any material you do not understand. Never hesitate to write me and ask questions, even if they are only for your edification and not tied directly to an assignment. But the burden of learning falls upon the individual student.

Are there Proctored Exams? Rules of the Graded Quizzes: No proctor is necessary as all Quizzes and other Assignments are completed online. Quizzes are scheduled on the Calendar to begin at 12:00 a.m. Noon on FRIDAYS and close at 11:59 p.m. Midnight on MONDAYS. Graded Quizzes are be timed and you will only be able to attempt the Graded Quiz only once for Credit. You MUST complete the Graded Quiz once the timer begins. You cannot view the exam and then return later to complete. So do not answer your door or the telephone if it rings, banish your spouse, children or significant other while testing, and be aware of weather-related issues that may develop, meaning do not start a Graded Quiz during a thunderstorm, dust storm, snow storm, excessive wind, etc.!

Computer Requirements – Have a Back-up Plan: Regular log-on is required for satisfactory achievement. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the student to keep track of their assignments. Students must have regular access to a computer and a reliable Internet connection to enroll in this course. I repeat, these are minimum requirements for all students in every online course. Technical problems are not an excuse to miss a posted Graded Exam or other assignment Due Date. Students should plan ahead to have all work submitted earlier than the last Due Date in the event of a computer malfunction or other disruption and everyone should also have access to a back-up -- a computer at a family member's home, friend's location, local school, local city library, tablet or smart phone with the Bb App -- to meet all assignment dates. It is strongly recommended to download the Student Blackboard Mobile App for your Smart Phone or tablet to access the Course when Wi-fi is down, Internet is unavailable, a computer crashes, students are not a home, etc. Many learners use this App to successfully interact in the Course as well as upload and/or complete Assignments. This is one of the trade-offs for the convenience of a Virtual class. When technical problems occur, students need to contact the WBUonline Help Desk for assistance immediately. They are open 24/7 via Chat, E-mail or by telephone.

Submission of ALL Assignments: Students MUST submit ALL Assignments and Exams/Quizzes electronically per the appropriate Instructions on the Course Website and no Assignments will be accepted in any other form as mandated by University and Course Syllabus rules.
