2. All assignments must be fully created, designed, and prepared by the student(s).
3. Any work that uses generative AI will be treated as plagiarism.

In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), it is the policy of Wayland Baptist University that no otherwise qualified person with a disability be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subject to discrimination under any educational program or activity in the university. The Disability Services Coordinator and Academic Coach serves as the coordinator of students with disabilities and must be contacted concerning accommodation requests (office (806) 291-1057. Documentation of a disability must accompany any request for accommodations.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS and GRADING CRITERIA:

1. Blackboard Scavenger Hunt. The hunt is designed to help familiarize you with the essential features of Blackboard. Complete by Wednesday of Week 1 (3rd day of class). 1 point will be deducted each day for late submissions.
2. Discussion Boards. Students are expected to participate in all discussion boards and any other weekly group activities. Active, robust student participation in class interaction on theological topics enriches the class.

NOTE: Because the university classroom is a place designed for the free exchange of ideas, students are encouraged to think aloud and to be honest about their theological perspectives and concerns. Students should respect the views of their peers, addressing any concerns or questions about another’s views with charity and compassion, so that the whole body of Christ might be built up (Eph. 4:11-15).

3. Dialogues with Theologians. Students will interact with assigned AI chatbots impersonating theologians to learn more about these theologians' perspectives on doctrines. Students will respond to a prompt after engaging in dialog with the AI.
4. Journaling. Students are expected to maintain a private journal on Blackboard that will only be accessible to the student and the instructor. Journal entries should reflect on the weekly reading assignments and how these relate to the student's personal walk of faith, corporate identity within the body of Christ, and calling to missional action in the kingdom of God. Journal entries may ask questions about topics raised in the text or doctrinal issues not addressed by the text. The instructor will respond to such questions as appropriate.
5. Book Review. Students will write a critical book review over a theological monograph selected in consultation with the instructor. Possible texts are available on Blackboard.

This review should consist of 8-12 pages of text in 10 or 12 point legible font (no cutesy fonts please). It should be written in proper English utilizing the style guide of the School of Christian Studies. Late papers will be lowered 3 points per day, including weekends. Instructor may allow extensions for pre-approved reasons and emergency situations.
6. Exam. Students will take a final exam over the material covered in class discussion.

INSTRUCTOR'S CONFESSIONAL STATEMENT

It is the instructor's belief that the Bible is written exactly the way God intended for it to be written. The instructor is also committed to the historic position of Baptists that religious liberty is for all . . . including his students. ☺

The liberty I contend for, is more than toleration. The very idea of toleration, is despicable; it supposes that some have a pre-eminence above the rest, to grant indulgence; whereas, all should be equally free, Jews, Turks, Pagans and Christians. Test oaths and established creeds should be avoided as the worst of evils.

— John Leland, Virginia Baptist and advocate for the First Amendment to the U.S. Constitution; quoted in Baptist Ways by Bill Leonard (2003, pp. 130-31).
