ATTENDANCE REQUIREMENTS:

- Attendance for online courses is defined fully in the university catalog.
- Students are expected to participate in all required instructional activities in their courses.
- Student “attendance” in an online course is defined as active participation in the course as described in the course syllabus (completing weekly assignments).
- Students aware of necessary absences must inform the professor with as much advance notice as possible in order to make appropriate arrangements.
- Any student absent 25 percent or more of the online course, i.e., non-participatory during 2 or more weeks of an 8 week term, may receive an F for that course.
- Any student who has not actively participated in an online class prior to the census date for any given session is considered a “no-show” and will be administratively withdrawn from the class without record. To be counted as actively participating, it is not sufficient to log in and view the course. The student must be submitting work as described in the course syllabus.
- A student with excessive non-participation may also have a Predict Report filed with student’s WBU email and appropriate administrative personnel.

STATEMENT ON ACADEMIC INTEGRITY:

Read Wayland Baptist University’s policy on academic integrity, as you will be held to it in this course. There is a no tolerance for plagiarism or academic dishonesty.

No use of any generative AI tools permitted.

1. Students are required to create and produce all work themselves or with assigned group members. Any work submitted that has used an AI generative tool like ChatGPT will be in immediate violation of the academic integrity policies for the course and WBU.
2. All assignments must be fully created, designed, and prepared by the student(s).
3. Any work that uses generative AI will be treated as plagiarism.

DISABILITY STATEMENT:

In compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA), it is the policy of Wayland Baptist University that no otherwise qualified person with a disability be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subject to discrimination under any educational program or activity in the university. The Disability Services Coordinator and Academic Coach serves as the coordinator of students with disabilities and must be contacted concerning accommodation requests (office (806) 291-1057. Documentation of a disability must accompany any request for accommodations.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS and GRADING CRITERIA:

1. Blackboard Scavenger Hunt. The hunt is designed to help familiarize you with the essential features of Blackboard. Complete by Wednesday of Week 1 (3rd day of class). 1 point will be deducted each day for late submissions.
2. Assigned Readings. Weekly reading assignments are listed in the schedule. These should be completed toward the beginning of the week as much as possible to ensure time to complete other assignments which depend on the readings.
3. Lectures. Students will read lectures each week, including biblical texts as referenced in the lectures. Reading the lectures without the Bible will create limited understanding of lecture discussions.
4. Reading Quizzes. There are weekly reading quizzes over the assigned readings. You may retake quizzes, both during and after the week assigned, until you are happy with your grade. (The highest grade applies to grade.) Unless excused, there will be a late penalty if there is no attempt on the quiz until after the assigned due date.
5. Discussion Boards. Students are expected to respond to weekly topics assigned by the instructor in a thoughtful, academic manner. These questions are reflective in nature and intended to encourage thought about the readings and lectures as well as to facilitate dialogue on these topics. Sunday deadline for initial responses.

Students should engage in robust discussions with their classmates about posts on discussion boards. This is a minimal expectation of two substantive responses per week. These interactions are due by Wednesday of the week following the initial posts. All discussion posts should strive to build community and enhance the learning process.

Note: Because the university classroom is a place designed for the free exchange of ideas, we will frequently encounter the opinions of others which may seem novel and, occasionally, outlandish. We should show respect for one another in all circumstances. Part of the learning experience will be the opportunity to hear other opinions and/or interpretations of the assigned readings. Therefore, we should show respect for one another by exhibiting patience and courtesy. Persistent belligerence of another's views will lower your class participation grade.

6. Cultural Backgrounds Journal. Each week, you will read at least two articles regarding the historical background of the Old Testament from the textbook and post a reflective journal entry for each reading. Journal entries should discuss how the reading helps you better understand the culture of the Old Testament and/or the assigned readings. Detailed instructions are posted in the Course Info section of Blackboard.
7. Final Reflective Paper. You will write a 3-4 page final reflective paper on one of three topics assigned by the instructor. Your paper will cover the breadth of the course, so make sure you are reading weekly lectures. The paper is your thoughts on the course, so it should be in your own words and not use resources outside of the class textbook and assigned lectures. The paper will be graded on your engagement with the topic and your thoughtful discussion. It will not be graded on “rightness” or “wrongness” of biblical interpretation.

8. Community Development (extra credit). It is important in this class to create a learning community to encourage active learning and enhance the online experience. As stated above, students should engage in robust discussions with their classmates about posts on discussion boards. If a student’s grade is on the border between two grades, overall interaction with classmates and instructor will be evaluated. In addition to responding to classmates’ posts on weekly assigned discussion topics, there is a weekly thread entitled “anything else?” where students can ask questions about issues in the reading they didn’t find addressed in the lectures or topics they would like to discuss about the readings/lectures. There are also a number of non-point discussion boards (prayer requests, study halls for quizzes) intended to encourage community. Other means to develop community that will be considered for borderline grades are the amount of content posted to students’ introduction, additional journal articles beyond the minimum assigned, and how frequently the reading quizzes were completed.

GRADING CRITERIA

1. University Grading Scale	2. Procedure Used for Computation of Final Grade
A 90-100	a. Bb Scavenger Hunt	5%

C 70-79	c. Weekly Discussion Boards:	25%
D 60-69	d. Cultural Backgrounds Journals:	25%
F below 60	e. Reflective Paper:	15%

Grade Appeal Statement: Students shall have protection through orderly procedures against prejudices or capricious academic evaluation. A student who believes that he or she has not been held to realistic academic standards, just evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course by using the student grade appeal process described in the Academic Catalog. Appeals may not be made for advanced placement examinations or course bypass examinations. Appeals are limited to the final course grade, which may be upheld, raised, or lowered at any stage of the appeal process. Any recommendation to lower a course grade must be submitted through the Vice President of Academic Affairs/Faculty Assembly Grade Appeals Committee for review and approval. The Faculty Assembly Grade Appeals Committee may instruct that the course grade be upheld, raised, or lowered to a more proper evaluation.

OBSERVATION AND INVITATION

This is an academic class which will explore the historical background and literary features of the Old Testament. The Christian belief about the Bible, however, is that it is intended to speak God's word to the reader about her or his own life circumstances. Therefore, if you ever have questions about how the Bible readings apply to your own life or wish to talk about your personal, spiritual life in a format other than the classroom, I would be happy to visit with you by email, instant messaging, or phone.

CONFESSORIAL STATEMENT

It is the instructor's belief that the Bible is written exactly the way God intended for it to be written. Further, the instructor holds to the Baptist view of religious liberty for all—including his students. (In case you were not aware, the Baptists of Virginia played a significant role in the establishment of religious freedom in the First Amendment of the U.S. Constitution.)

The liberty I contend for, is more than toleration. The very idea of toleration, is despicable; it supposes that some have a pre-eminence above the rest, to grant indulgence; whereas, all should be equally free, Jews, Turks [i.e., Muslims], Pagans and Christians. Test oaths and established creeds should be avoided as the worst of evils.

—Virginia Baptist and First Amendment advocate John Leland; quoted in Baptist Ways by Bill Leonard [2003], pp. 130-31)
