Class Discussions

Your participation in class discussion is an important aspect of your grade. The objective of this course is not for you to temporarily memorize terms and definitions for the sole purpose of regurgitating them on an exam. Any terms that you learn are there for you to use in real life situations. They should shed light and help you to look at and talk about art with some degree of authority. Class discussions are designed to help you apply what you learn and to give you a voice in the content of the course. Credit is given for useful contributions to discussions. Participating in the community that we build as a class and making use of that community to practice your skills in analyzing artwork is at the heart and soul of this course. Talk to us, ask us questions, be part of the discussion and benefit from the medium that we have chosen to learn in.

You are required to make a minimum of 8 posts for each Lesson's Discussion. (This is the bare minimum effort and does not equal a 100% score.) Per lesson you need to post initial responses to the topics. Include images, sources and links. The remaining posts should be devoted to responding to classmates with thoughtful and substantial posts.

Written Assignments

There will be four written assignments for the course. They will each be worth up to 100 points. The assignment prompt and instructions will be found in the individual lesson folders.

Late work:

I do not allow late posting to discussion. Late written assignments and quizzes may be submitted. There will be a deduction of 10 points per day it is late. If you have a personal or family emergency (immediate family) please forward documentation with your request for an extension.

Notes:

This syllabus serves as a guide and can be amended at any time as the instructor deems necessary.

Smart phones and tablets are not a substitute for a computer in this class.

Internet connections must be reliable. You may need to use a library computer if your computer is down.

Do not ask for alternate assignments because you do not have the book.

It is highly recommended that the student make notes while reading the text and periodically visit <http://www.smarthistory.kahnacademy.org/>. These activities will reinforce the information in the text and Lecture Notes. You may also 'Google' Otis Art History and locate the numerous art history videos, posted to You Tube, on that site.

I recommend that you do not plan vacations, road trips, or other personal activities to coincide with quiz dates and that you do not wait until the last hour to submit work.

Do not ask Virtual Campus to re-set a quiz due to an Internet interruption. Contact your instructor.

When taking the quizzes and answering the Discussion Board questions, be sure to ground your answers/thoughts in the course materials; especially the text.

Quizzes can only be taken once so wait to start the exam until you are prepared and have enough time to complete the test in one sitting. You will not be able to save your exam and finish it later.

This is a reading intensive course.

Note:

Students shall have protection through orderly procedures against prejudices or capricious academic evaluation. A student who believes that he or she has not been held to realistic academic standards, just evaluation procedures, or appropriate grading, may appeal the final grade given in the course by using the student grade appeal process described in the Academic Catalog. Appeals may not be made for advanced placement examinations or course bypass examinations. Appeals are limited to the final course grade, which may be upheld, raised, or lowered at any stage of the appeal process. Any recommendation to lower a course grade must be submitted through the Executive Vice President/Provost to the Faculty Assembly Grade Appeals Committee for review and approval. The Faculty Assembly Grade Appeals Committee may instruct that the course grade be upheld, raised, or lowered to a more proper evaluation.

Additional Information:

Academic Honesty: University students are expected to conduct themselves according to the highest standards of academic honesty. Academic misconduct for which a student is subject to penalty includes all forms of cheating, such as illicit possession of examinations or examination materials, forgery, or plagiarism. (Plagiarism is the presentation of the work of another as one's own work.) All incidents in which a student is involved in violating the Academic Honesty policy will be reported to the Dean of the School of Fine Arts and then forwarded to the Provost's office, becoming a permanent part of the students' academic record.

Email: Your Wayland email address is the official line of communication between you and the university. To access your email, go to www.wbu.edu/email. Yahoo and Hotmail accounts will no longer work! You must make sure your email address is established, functioning and is also monitored at least once a day as you will receive important information about your classes, financial aid, billing, emergency situations, etc. through this email.
